

Nyewood News

Together, we can do this...

As I sat down to write this newsletter I thought back over what has been one of the toughest half terms for every single member of our Nyewood Family. To think, a year ago, the world we are living in now would have been something from a film not reality. But here we are and whilst times are, undeniably, tough, I consider myself blessed to be supported through this time by the amazing members of our school community.

This newsletter will be slightly different to my usual reflections as I want to take the time to send a message to each one of you...

For the parents and carers...

This is a thank you to our families, who have become teachers; who are juggling their own work from home whilst making sure our children continue to learn. And to our critical workers, who are supporting our community on the front line, every day. For these unbelievable sacrifices - I thank you.

To our wonderful children...

Every single one of you should be so proud of yourselves. I am, every day, amazed by your hard work, resilience (you always keep going!), your positivity and your kindness. Our school promises remind us to smile, care and learn on our journey with God and every one of you has given that in abundance. Whether you are learning at home or at school, you have tried your best and shown our true Nyewood Family spirit. I can't wait until we can all come together again, but until then.... Keep going, you can do it. You are brilliant!

To the dedicated staff team...

Each day over the last year has seen our staff adapt to this ever changing world. I thank you for your hard work and unwavering dedication to our school community; for adapting to an unknown world of remote learning whilst still being in school teaching, often balancing that with teaching children of your own! I thank you for providing support for our families and for each other and most of all, for putting our children first. Thank you.
